ABOUT THE HOPI ARTS TRAIL The Hopi Arts Trail invites you to explore all of the wonderful, authentic Hopi artwork that Hopi land has to offer. The Hopi Arts Trail artists and galleries are spread across twelve villages and are located in three regions: First Mesa, Second Mesa and Third Mesa. Come and tour the Hopi Arts Trail, learn about the Hopi culture, and get to know artists in their home workshops and galleries.

THE HISTORY OF HOPI ART Artwork has been an important part of Hopi life and culture for thousands of years, making Hopi artists some of the most accomplished in the world. Almost all of the artists have been taught by their elders, who continue to pass their knowledge down from generation to generation.

TYPES OF ART

BASKETRY & WEAVING

Hopi baskets are derived from techniques that can be traced back thousands of years. Hopi artists produce a unique style of plaques, bowls, and trays, which are either for sale or for ceremonial use.

POTTERY & CLAY

Hopi pottery is made with the "coil and scrape" technique, from clay that is hand dug on Hopi land. The pots and clay art are painted in natural pigments with a yucca leaf brush and then fired in open pits with natural fuel.

CARVING & KATSINAS

Katsina dolls are three-dimensional representations of the Katsinas that visit the villages for ceremonial dances and observances. They are hand carved from cottonwood root and painted to represent figures from Hopi beliefs.

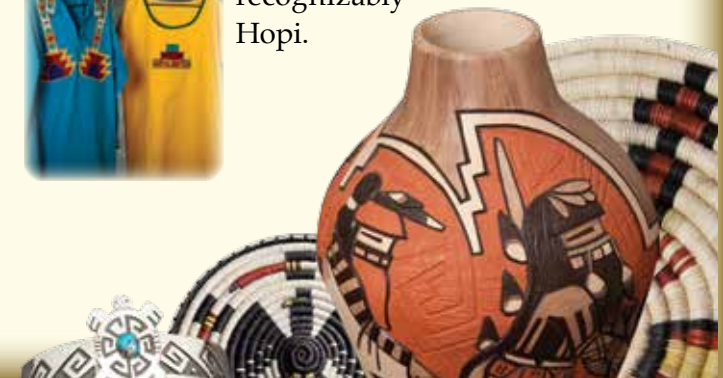

JEWELRY & SILVERWORK

Distinctive Hopi silverwork is known as silver overlay. Hopi artisans cut a design from a flat piece of silver and then fuse that to another oxidized piece which is hand scored to produce an intricate design before polishing.

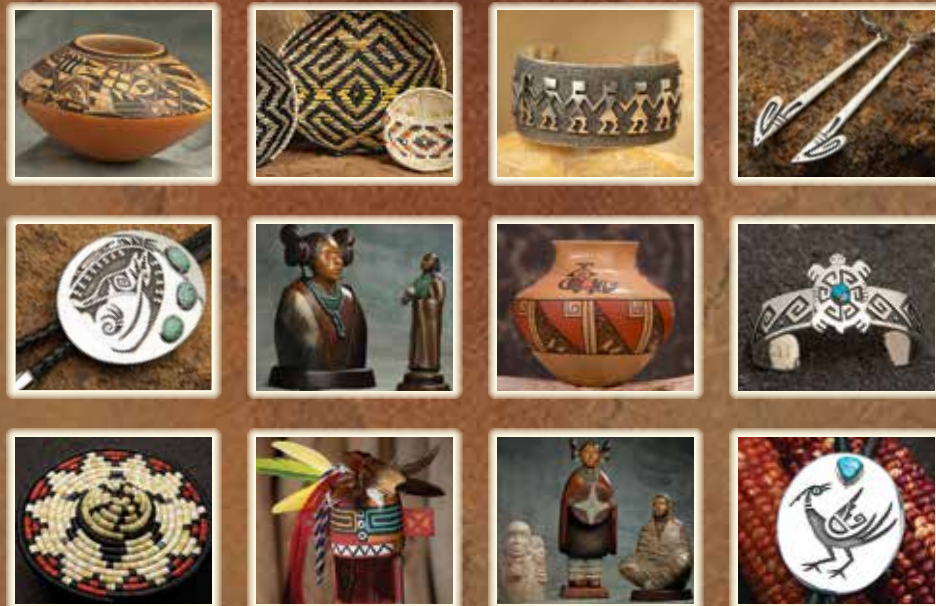

OTHER ART

Hopi artists find expression in painting, sculpture, glass making, photography, and other contemporary art forms. As with other artists, their art is ever changing and evolving but always recognizably Hopi.

The Hopi Arts Trail Experience

The Hopi Arts Trail allows you to engage with Hopi Artists, Galleries, and Authorized Tour Guides (all tribal members) as you visit the Hopi mesas. Many of the artists on the Arts Trail will welcome you into their home workshops to see the way they create their art using traditional methods. Schedule a visit with an artist to get to know them personally and learn about Hopi art as a significant part of Hopi life. The galleries on the Arts Trail feature artists from all of Hopi with traditional as well as contemporary offerings. Tour Guides who are certified by the Hopi Tribe can take you to visit artists, villages, and cultural sites.
